Buddy Palumbo Award: Jethro Bronner

Named after the narrator/hero of World's Fastest Novelist Burt "BS" Levy's cult-classic The Last Open Road series about a 19-year-old gas-station mechanic who gets swept into the upper-crust world of open-road sportscar racing during the Eisenhower fifties, the Buddy Palumbo award is intended specifically for an individual who has done the majority of their restoration project themselves and have moreover driven their pride and joy.

Jethro drove his 1964 Alfa Romeo Giulia Sprint GT (Alfa 105) from South Africa to Northern Ireland and is a very worthy recipient.
